

ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY

General de Manipulados Plásticos, S.A. is aware of the currently growing environmental problems and, as a supporter of sustainable development, is committed to the prevention, protection and conservation of the environment in all its activities.

The environmental policy of GMP, S.A. is based on two basic principles:

- The compliance with all environmental regulations, based on the ISO 14000 framework and,
- The continuous improvement of the developed activities in order to protect the environment.

To put these principles into practice, the Management of GMP, S.A. is set to:

- Adopt the necessary measures to prevent pollution or, when it is not possible, minimize polluting emissions.
- Systematically reduce waste, recycling and reusing whenever possible, as well as to use natural resources, raw materials and energy efficiently.
- Adopt the necessary measures to ensure compliance with the applicable environmental regulations to our activities at European, State, Autonomous, and Local levels.
- Establish procedures for the periodic review of compliance with the environmental policy, as well as for the application of corrective measures in detected non-compliance.
- Define and periodically review the established environmental objectives and goals in compliance with this environmental policy, within the process of continuous improvement of our actions regarding the environment.
- Disseminate the Environmental Policy among employees, suppliers, subcontractors and other interested parties.
- Train and educate employees about the possible environmental aspects that may arise, so that they respect our policy in all their activities.
- Maintain an Environmental Management System up to date, appropriate to the nature, magnitude and environmental impacts of our activities.
